3. Special Guest: Kevin Rebeck – President of the Manitoba Federation of Labour

Kevin Rebeck attended to discuss Bill 16 and highlight the other bills that are being presented by the current Conservative Provincial Government.

- Bill 16: Bill 16 amends Manitoba's labour laws to undermine the collective bargaining process, allow employers to fire striking workers and make it easier for bad employers to intimidate workers on the picket line. In one provision, Bill 16 eliminates the right of striking workers to access binding arbitration after sixty days of strike action or lockout.
  - Eliminating Notice for workers when technological change is going to cause mass layoffs. At this time employers who are going to bring in new technology that will result in job loss have to give 90 days notice. Under this bill the notice will go from 90 days to two weeks notice.

- Bill 57: The Critical Infrastructure Act: This will allow employers a faster track than an injunction would at cheaper costs for employers which could provide higher fines to unions and other demonstrating groups for anything deemed to be critical infrastructure (which would include, grocery stores, food distribution centres). Anything that is deemed essential these days could be deemed critical infrastructure.
- Bill 33: The Advanced Education Administration Amendment Act — gives Manitoba's minister of advanced education, skills and immigration, the power to set guidelines on how those institutions charge students. It could also make student fees optional.
- Bill 64: Repeals Manitoba's existing public education acts to completely restructure the province's public education system and introduces sweeping new powers to the Premier and his Cabinet.
- More information on how union members can participate to take action on these bills can be found on the Local 832 website as well as the Manitoba Federation of Labour website – mfl.ca.
